VOLUME XXXIV NO. 7

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 30, 1941

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

WITH THE 22ND BATTERY IN EASTERN CANADA

The new commander of the 22nd Division, Major-General Price, arrived in Camp a week ago from England and immediately began inspecting the 16,000 odd men of the 22nd Division. The 13th Field Regiment, had the honor to be the first unit inspected. The parade was led by the senior battery—the 22nd. The general salute was sounded by a 40-piece artillery trumpet band. Immediately following the inspection the general addressed the troops.

Congratulations are due more Gleichens boys on recent promotions made by:

L. Sgt. Murray to 2nd Lieutenant.
L. Bdr. Murray to Bombadier.
Gnr. Brown to L. Bombadier.
Gnr. Nagel to L. Bombadier.
Good luck boys.

Lieutenant Murray has been transferred to Brockville, Ont., for a three months course. Recent correspondence indicates Luke is hard at work both day and night.

Quite a number of the boys went on Easter leave to various places in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Bdr. Murray spent the leave at St. John's, N.B., with relatives. Sgt. Leter and L. Bdr. James journeyed to Moncton, N.B. Here they saw Keith Gilbert who gave them the key to the city. They also had Easter dinner with Keith at the No. 8 Training Centre, Moncton. Incidentally Keith has really put Gleichens on the map here in the east. They all ask "Where is this Gleichens we hear so much about."

Bdr. Thorburn spent a few days in Halifax visiting his brother, Bill, who is with the navy. Bill Schmidt of the R.C.C.F. spent a few days in Moncton during Easter.

Joe Jennings arrived in camp recently from Winnipeg. Joe Richards and Lindsay Dankworth arrived back from French Canada where they reported having had the time of their lives.

The 13th Field Regiment recently had another ribbon under the supervision of strict English doctors. A percentage of this men have been categorized and more recruits are needed.

Cliff Kilcup has got the boys doing "Band down, sister" again much to the disgust of Bdr. Taylor who had his first work since Camp Sarnia. Yes, it would be hard, Bob.

The Queensdown gang send their regards to their folks in Queensdown and district and report "all is well."

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

Some persons, it seems, are objecting to the payment by the Dominion government to our western wheat growers of any sum as a bonus either for summer-fallowed land or for any other reason. The chief argument used by these critics is that the present surplus wheat situation has been brought about mainly by the increase in recent years of western wheat growers to increase their acreage.

The official statistics do not bear out this claim. The average annual acreage needed to wheat for the past six years, that is from 1935 to 1940 inclusive, has been 25,206,466, whereas the similar average annual acreage needed to wheat for the six immediate preceding years, that is from 1929 to 1934 inclusive, was 24,912,201, an increase in the annual average for the past six years of 294,265 acres only, or just over 1 per cent.

This is an almost insignificant increase particularly when it is considered that since 1929 the world's population has increased at least 10 per cent, and that the world's consumption of wheat since 1929 has actually increased by 5.3 per cent.

It is quite evident, therefore, that the present condition of the western wheat industry, with its unrelenting surplus, and the sad plight of our farm-

News Items of Local Interest

It was noticed that the town secretary was making himself generally useful the other day when he devoted some of his spare time in burning off the weeds and dead grass here in the cemetery. It is possible he was trying to set an example for others to follow. How about it?

The recent drive for War Service Fund closed well over the mark aimed at. The committee report the total amount subscribed was $576.58 of which $514.48 was cash and $62.10 payments to be made at a later date.

Rev. Joseph Leo of Strome, Alta., spent several days the past week in the district the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burne and Mr. F. Daw. For several years following 1908 Mr. Leo had charge of the United Church here and during his visit met many of his friends of more than 30 years ago.

Arthur Daw and family of Innisfail are in Gleichens Monday attending the funeral of Mrs. F. Daw. Mr. Arthur Daw is a brother of Mr. Frank Daw. Mr. Daw at one time farmed in this district but left about 1913 for Innisfail where he has resided ever since.

Two cars, one a light delivery truck driven by J. Koster of Cluny and a passenger car driven by Roscoe McKay of Calgary sidestepped each other and did considerable damage to both. The accident occurred on the main highway some seven miles north of town.

RED CROSS NOTES

(By Conveyer Mrs. S. E. Dufos)

A short business meeting was held in the Work Room Monday afternoon. Vice-President Mrs. Michael occupied the chair in the absence of the president, Mr. MacCallum, secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and Mr. Mahoney gave a financial statement revealing that $184.05 is on hand in the bank.

Mrs. R. W. Brown reporting for the membership committee explained that anyone donating more than $1 toward the Red Cross at the campaign fund drive last fall, automatically became member of the Red Cross.

A report of the War Work Committee covering the last four months will be published next week.

OBITUARY

MRS. F. DAW

It is with very deep regret we record the death of Mrs. F. Daw, who passed away on Saturday morning last the 26th inst, after a very protracted illness. The funeral took place Monday afternoon and was attended by a wide circle of friends and neighbors, notwithstanding the busy season. Rev. J. Leo of Strome, who was minister here 30 years ago conducted the service.

Mrs. Daw was born 77 years ago in England and came to this district in 1900 where she resided continuously ever since. Her passing is a decided loss to the community, as she is a devoted and devoted wife and mother. She is survived by her husband, Mr. F. Daw, who was ever keenly on the alert, seeking what help he could render to any individual or organization that was in need.

Besides her husband she leaves a brother, Fred Jepson, Doncaster, Eng., and a sister Mrs. Coby of Sheffield. The pall bearers were Messrs. C. B. Hyndman, J. Hutchison, R. Thomas, C. B. Hyndman, J. Hutchison, R. Thomas, J. Thomas, S. Dutton and J. C. B. Hyndman.

Among the floral offerings the following were noted: Husband—Anderson family and Mrs. Pili; Mrs. J. C. Hutchison; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hutchison and family; Mr. and Mrs. A. Daw and family; C. B. Hyndman; Gleichens Women section of Old Times; Gleichens Old Times Assoc.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McArthur; Mr. and Mrs. Haakayne; Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith; Mr. and Mrs. R. Thomas; Mr. and Mrs. Unbride; Tom Wilson and family; U.F.W.A.; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thorsen.

Her husband has not been brought about by any increase in wheat acreage in recent years.

of town Sunday morning and was attributed to dust raised by another car. In the truck were Mr. and Mrs. Koster and child. The child was thrown, against the windshield head first and received some cuts to the face. The child, a girl about five years old was immediately brought to town and attended to by Dr. Farquharson. In the other car were Beaco McKay and his father, F. K. McKay, bound for Gleichens. Except the Koster child no one else was hurt. Corp. Ashby investigated the crash. The wrecked cars were brought to town during the day and given a thorough inspection by townspeople.

Millions of dollars worth of scrap iron, steel and other war materials in the Albertan on Canadian farms, in country towns and in abandoned work areas, Canada wants this material, and the National salvage campaign has been organized to collect it. Rural residents who wish to contribute are reminded that local handling will be done through municipal secretaries and elevator agents. These persons will be able to supply all information as to times of delivery and shipment.

Matthew W. Murray has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant and is at present undergoing training at the Officers Training Centre, Brockville, Ont.

The Meadowbrook S. C. ladies spent a very pleasant afternoon recently at the home of Mrs. B. B. Hayes. The roll call was answered by suggestions for hardy flowers for Alberta. After some business discussions were settled a very interesting paper was read by Mrs. Balphine Holmes, entitled "Some Things are Worth More Than Money." Mrs. Hayes then sponsored a contest the prize going to Mrs. Bolinger. A delicious tea was then served by the members who were present. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. N. McMillan and it is hoped that members and friends who can will be present.

CARD OF THANKS

To all the friends whose sympathy and service were so kindly tendered in my time of bereavement I desire to extend my sincere thanks. FRANCIS DAW.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Medical requirements for the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve have been relaxed in order to take on the strength men who formerly were rejected for color blindness or medical defects considerably below that usually required. A number of color defects will be formed into a class for training in an eastern port. Intelligent type of man with medical requirements for writers class will be accepted at the naval barracks, 102 Street, Edmonton.

Alberta farmers will receive about $10,000,000 of the $35,000,000 total allocated for summer-fallow bonus payments by the federal government, it was announced by E. L. Gray. Formerly a member of the legislature and leader of the province's Liberal organization, Mr. Gray has now been appointed head of the bonus scheme here. Bonus will vary from $2 an acre for former wheat lands devoted to coarse grains to $6 an acre for summer fallow, fall rye or grass. He said it is possible, he added, that special information meetings will be held at rural points to explain the scheme's provisions. Alberta's agricultural officials also state that this is possible, having received request to this effect from Agriculture Minister J. Gardiner.

More than 700 university students will go to Sarcee for training May 1. They are members of the G.O.P.C. and part of the auxiliary battalion. An advance party of 50 men will leave earlier, and schools for instructors will open at the University of Regina prior to the camp opening.

Luxurious Informality On Great Lakes Cruises

One of Canada's most delightful holiday attractions is a Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship cruise, an inland sea voyage from Port McNicoll through Georgian Bay, Lake Huron and Lake Superior to Port William.

It is an ocean voyage in miniature — the word "miniature" being used in a comparative sense only, because the trip is 542 miles long, the ship is completely out of sight of land at times and the shipboard life and entertainment are patterned on ocean-cruise style.

Canadians and Americans in increasing numbers have found for in Great Lakes cruises in recent years, spending their entire vacations on cruises or using the lake route as a link in a longer trip. Sailing and arrival times of the ships are planned to coincide with train times on the Canadian Pacific's transcontinental line. Or, reduced rates for carrying automobiles make the lake cruises a delightful interlude in a long motor tour.

The regular passenger ships, the Keweenaw and the Assiniboia, fine Clyde-built steamships with a gross tonnage of 2,800 and speed of 15 knots, have been outfitted especially for cruise service. They make 27 westbound and 27 east-bound trips in the summer months, westbound sailings being on Saturdays and Wednesdays from Port McNicoll and eastbound sailings being on Saturdays and Tuesdays from Port William and Port Arthur. The round trip takes four days and a night. Half the lake route as a link in a longer either terminal and the Soo, affords a pleasant two-day holiday. Special boat trains are operated between Toronto and Port McNicoll.

Another carefree cruise of more than 1,000 miles in five days can be made on the S.S. Manitoulin. The cruise is from Owen Sound to Port William and return, with calls at several interesting ports. The route is via the North Inside Channel of Manitoulin Island. All three ships are equipped and staffed to make cruising easy and enjoyable. The cuisine is of a high standard, social entertainment includes dancing, moonlight parties and afternoon teas and ship sports include shuffleboard, deck quizzes and other popular pastimes. Informality and luxury are found on every hand.

Believes In Fate

Winston Churchill Has Had Many Narrow Escapes From Death

That Winston Churchill has nine times the proverbial nine lives of a cat is the firm belief of Phyllis Mair whose book, "I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary," is off the press.

As proof of her assertion, Miss Mair recited these facts: "At the age of four, he fell off a donkey in Ireland and suffered concussion. At 17, he fell 30 feet off a bridge onto a river-bed. When he was British observer with the Spanish army in Cuba, a bullet whizzed over his head just as he leaned over to swallow a mouthful.

On Omdurman, an injured right arm caused him to carry a Mauser pistol instead of a saber and thanks to the pistol, he shot his way to safety when cut off by a group of maddened dervishes. On the Northwest frontier in India and in the Boer War he came unscathed through engagements in which most of those around him were killed."

In the first World War, Churchill once left his dugout for a few minutes and came back to find it blown to pieces by a heavy shell," continues Miss Mair, who has been private secretary to a number of well-known persons, but who considers her services with Britain's premier as a "private secretaryship" to end all private secretaryships—"so far as she is concerned."

"He has been a very busy man in countless plane crashes. In New York, at the age of 57, he was run over by a car, suffered several injuries and pulled through his vigor unimpaired. It is not surprising that the prime minister has come to believe in fate has played a part in his many escapes. 'Life is a whole and luck is a whole and the two cannot be separated' is a favorite maxim in the Churchillian philosophy."

Churchill has many hobbies. Miss Mair writes. They range from painting to bricklaying and from cooking to having his blood pressure taken. He also likes picnics but they must be elaborate affairs with champagne. He smokes six cigars a day and his cigar, the owner holds, has taken the place of Chamberlain's umbrella as the British national emblem.

A lip and a stutter were Churchill's handicaps from birth. Miss Mair found the lip pronounced when she took dictation from him, and when excited, Churchill stuttered. But on the public platform and before a microphone, there is no stutter and the lip is imperceptible. That he overcame such obstacles to his chosen career she holds is indeed a high tribute to his perseverance.

"I never detected an ounce of sentimentality in the man," writes Miss Mair, and that perhaps is why she makes him one of the greatest war leaders of all time. . . as a war leader, Mr. Churchill has at last found his mission."

Tombs Uncovered In Italy Land Date From First Century A.D.

Word comes from Jerusalem that a necropolis dating from the First Century A.D. has been uncovered near the Jewish quarter of the town named Nabariyah, north of Acre, town famed in the history of the Crusades from the first time.

Three groups of tombs have already been cleared. One group consists of a central hall surrounded by chambers that were found to contain several clay coffins in which were remains of adult and child burials. There were also bronze and glass household utensils, such as lamps, vases and dishes, and coins which apparently were funerary ornaments.

Other tombs apparently had been stripped of their furnishings at some remote date, but one chamber has been cleared and appears to have been prepared by a husband and wife as a family vault; portraits of the dead were painted upon a wall with an accompanying Greek inscription now in process of translation.

Japan Has Glass Boom

Home And Foreign Demand Said To Be Facing Supply

Due to the discovery of a raw process for the extraction of silica from sand and the substitution of lead oxide for potash in the making of glass, the manufacture of this product, according to the Tokyo papers, is rapidly becoming one of the staple products of the country, with glass instead of paper in windows, some houses even with facades of glass, and with constantly augmenting export trade.

While architects and builders are feverishly at work taking advantage of the glass boom, the export trade has increased by leaps and bounds with some 80,000 cases of sheet glass going abroad in the closing month of 1940, according to one paper which adds:

Especially is this situation manifest in exports to the countries in Central and South America, the South Sea Islands and British India. "Prior to the outbreak of the second European war, sheet glass had been exported chiefly by Belgium, Germany (retwisted Czechoslovakia) and Japan. Now that the first two countries are involved in the current war and are unable to export, practically all the sheet glass country are simply inundated with countless number of inquiries and orders.

"Especially has this trend been conspicuous in recent months since the stock in the consuming countries is now practically exhausted. Incidentally the unit price is also said to be rising at big strides."

Health With Wheat

As a stimulus to a more permanent agriculture, the federal government's wheat acreage policy may well prove to be a blessing in disguise and the time may come when those farmers, if there are any left, who are inclined to indulge in a lot of grubbing because conditions make it impossible to continue to pile up unsold wheat at a profit to themselves, will have good reason to change their viewpoint.

Apart from the wisdom of calling upon the nation to divert large sums of money for the production of huge quantities of wheat which will not be required for some years, when it is so urgently and immediately needed for other phases of the war effort, the new policy of encouraging curtailment of wheat production should have the effect of laying the foundation for a stabilized agriculture which, in the future, will at least ensure a living for the farmer and his family and eliminate some of the evils and risks attendant upon the eggs in one basket.

The extent to which the farmer will willingly and cheerfully face the facts of the situation and co-operate with the government in this necessary move, to that degree will the time be hastened when Western Canadian agriculture will be a more reliable and dependable industry than it has been hitherto.

The federal government has announced that the amount of wheat that can be marketed this year will be limited to a total of 280,000,000 bushels. While the bonus to be paid for the excess acreage surrendered or needed to coarse grains and grasses over and above the acreage sown to wheat in 1940 is based on acreage, the amount of wheat that can be accepted for the market is based on yield. So that even if the farmer cuts his wheat acreage to 65 per cent. of the area sown to wheat last year he may still have an uneasable surplus, if 1941 turns out to be a high yield season.

A Shared Responsibility

Thus, while the government has assumed the responsibility of encouraging reduction of acreage seeded to wheat, some responsibility for the ultimate result of this year's operations is left with the farmer and that is, of course, as it should be.

Given a good year it is quite possible that, even with wheat acreage cut to 65 per cent. of that of 1940, the season may produce more wheat than can be marketed and, in that event, with all elevator storage space occupied, the farmer may have to face the problem of storing such surplus.

As the war progresses and until hostilities cease with an Allied victory this problem of wheat surpluses may become even more acute than it appears to be now, since overseas markets, what little is left of them, may suffer even further contraction before they again open up. This presages the necessity for exploring the possibilities of converting wheat to other uses or of encouraging greater consumption of wheat, domestically or in the contracted export market.

It is encouraging to find that some effort is being made in the latter direction with the recent announcement of Dr. F. F. Tidball of Toronto, nutrition adviser to the federal department of national defence who told a Winnipeg audience that a new type of white flour which retains about 75 per cent. of necessary vitamins has been perfected by the Dominion government researchers. This compares with the retention of only 15 per cent. of the vitamins under existing processes.

Dr. Tidball accompanied this very important announcement with the declaration that: "If Canadians used the new type flour in place of the old they would receive for nothing, at drug store prices, $34,000,000 of Vitamin B1 and over $6,000,000 of other B vitamins in the course of one year."

Even more important and even startling was his purporting further statement in the same address that: "If the people of Great Britain and Canada were properly fed, instead of a food surplus there would be a food shortage," this statement insofar as Canada is concerned being based on his assertion that surveys by the department of pensions and national health showed that a considerable proportion of Canada's population was not receiving the proper food.

The Star Of Life

For many generations bread has been referred to as the "star of life." There was probably a great deal more truth in the statement in the generation in which it was coined, when flour was coarse ground in small country mills than to-day, for it is common knowledge that with the development of a highly mechanized flour industry, such as we have it today, the refined process has "ground out" much of the vitamin content and valuable mineral constituents, essential to health and well being, from the resultant commodity.

The perfection of this new process, it may well be hoped, will not only serve to promote greater health for the nation but also for the people of Great Britain, but will help to extend to partially solve the wheat surplus problem in this country.

It is not long ago that some of the health authorities on this continent stated that the addition of synthetic vitamins to the diet is not necessary as effective as vitamins taken in the natural form, and if this be true, health can be promoted not only more effectively but more cheaply by the retention of these life-giving ingredients as Nature presents them.

Food Safeguards

There were none in Nova Scotia.

Unless there is an exceptionally dry summer, Alberta will not suffer severely from grasshopper attacks this season. Opinion to this effect was given by provincial department of agriculture officials during the week. It was claimed that farmers located in areas where stubble is grasshopper infested will benefit by the new federal acreage bonus policy since past experience has proved it costly and impractical to undertake to save stubble-in land, the department points out that this will be the most economical procedure during the current season.

DOWN ON THE FARM

Down on the farm, 'bout half past four,
I slip on my pants and sneak out into the door.
Out in the yard I run like the chickens
To milk all the cows and feed all the chickens.
Clean out the barnyard, carry Rhoda and Jigs,
Separate the cream and slop all the pigs.
Hauls two hours, then eat like a Turk;
By heck! I am ready for a full day's work!

Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack,
Throw a jug of water in the old grain sack.
Hitch up the mules, slip down the lane
Must get the hay in—looks like rain.
Look over yonder, sure as I am born,
Cows on the rampage, hogs in the corn;

Start across the meadow run a mile or two,
Heaving like I'm wind-blown, get wet clean through.
Back with the mules, then for recompense,
Rhoda gets a—straddle the barbwire fence.

Whoop! all aching muscles in a jerk—
'Fraid I fit as a fiddle for a full day's work!

Work all summer, 'till winter is nigh.
Then figure at the bank and heave a big sigh.
Worked all the year, didn't make a thing;
Less cash now than I had last spring.

Some folks say there ain't no hell but Shucks!
They never farmed, how can the tell?
When spring rolls 'round I take an other chance,
As fuel grows longer on my old gray pants—

Give my galluses a hitch, belt another jerk.
By gosh! I'm ready for another year's work!
